WHEREAS, The abundant raw materials and fiber supply raised by farmers and ranchers is the strength of America; and,

WHEREAS, Americans should be made more aware of the agriculture business and of what people in farm and nonfarm production and marketing are doing to build and maintain American agriculture as the largest industry in this nation today; and,

WHEREAS, Consuming Americans should have a better understanding of how their lives and often their jobs are touched by agriculture and agri-business each day; and

WHEREAS, One of the key objectives of American Agriculture Day is to organize a pattern of activities in states and communities so that all people can better understand each other:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, WILLIAM J. JANKLOW, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim March 19, 1979, as in the State of South Dakota, and I urge all citizens of our state to help foster a better understanding of agriculture as one of the great strengths of our nation.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the State of South Dakota, in Pierre, the Capital City, this Twenty-Sixth Day of February, in the Year of Our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Seventy-Nine
